

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

2 Contextual information that is presented to the user of a windows-based 3 computer environment through the user interface of a single open window of 4 the environment may be readily filtered and changed by appropriate 5 manipulation by the user of a context control feature of the user interface.
6 Manipulation of the context control feature allows the user to look at a given 7 set of objects or tasks from different views or perspectives. It also provides 8 the user with access to a different set of objects, thereby allowing the user to 9 look at a different set of objects or tasks from the same view or perspective as 10 an earlier set of objects or tasks.
